

DisabilityCare taps a new life ?

MEDIA RELEASE: May 15th, 2013

Assuming you ignore that

1. Any financial promises made by Wayne Swan are as useful as fly screen doors on a submarine
2. The scheduled time for commencement of NDIS is now further away, e.g. 2019/2020
3. Joe Hockey will almost certainly be treasurer in September 2013
4. The States need to find combined about $8.0 billion annually extra in additional funding
5. The rules on who is eligible for NDIS support are unpublished
6. The level of service each recipient will receive is undecided
7. No transition plan between the 20,000 clients who will pilot NDIS this year and the full rollout to 460,000 clients in 2020 is published
8. Everything may change when the Liberals get elected

Then the 2013 Federal Budget report below is encouraging

We will all no doubt watch what happens next with much interest with NDIS legislation scheduled to be debated in Parliament imminently.

Don't we all love being punted around as political footballs?
