

'Redrawing the Battlelines'

MEDIA RELEASE: June 3rd, 2013

Our next potential Prime Minister has just launched a book.

It is his personal and statesman like vision where he maps out a great future for Australia

<http://www.theaustralian.com.au/news/features/redrawing-the-battlelines/story-e6frg6z6-1226650912214>

It is fantastic that Mr Abbott has described in this summary in his own words the 22 most important program's he will deliver as Prime Minister. He makes it quite clear this is not Liberal Party policy but his own personal focus.

Given National Disability Insurance or DisabilityCare Australia does not rate a mention anywhere in the Prime Minister elect's top 22 or for that matter anywhere in the lengthy article he personally penned for The Australian newspaper last week our question is:

Do you think it is worthwhile as the parent of a child with disability to rush out and buy "Battlelines" or shall we just wait until someone cuts and pastes the excerpt from the book that includes Mr Abbott's wonderful commitment to NDIS that he omitted by accident (not intent?) from his big 22?

Was it just an unfortunate oversight in the article?

If anyone finds a reference, we will be genuinely delighted?

You have our email address and please send it to us by modern mail for wider circulation.

David Holst

Chair - Disability Speaks Steering Committee & Intellectual Disability Association of S.A (IDASA)

Mob. 0418 555 683

Web. www.disabilityspeaks.com.au

Email. disabilityspeaks@internode.on.net

Disability Speaks is run by the Intellectual Disability Association of South Australia (IDASA) and will distribute on behalf of any organization that meets suitable criteria online information that is of wide disability community interest via our database that now numbers nearly 4,000 recipients for Government, advocacy groups and other major disability organizations. We aim in the lead up to elections, state or federal, we can distribute policy and support information from political groups. Such distribution is not in any way endorsement by Disability Speaks. From time to time Disability Speaks will also distribute media releases commenting on developments in the disability sector. We strongly encourage you to forward all releases to your friends, clients and disability supporters and encourage them to subscribe direct. To do so simply send an email with the subject "subscribe" to the address below, to unsubscribe please use "unsubscribe" in the subject line instead.